Respected Mr. Amit Tandon

With the current slowdown in hiring within the high-tech field, you must be flooded with resumes from out-placed software engineers such as me. Please take a moment to consider my qualifications. I believe in particular is highly markable in this tight market:

I worked on the team that pioneered the technology that put the palm Pilot on the map. In today's increasingly mobile society, this technology has places to go, and I have ideas that could take us the next step in office independence.

Please call me with prospective job opportunities. I am interested in a project management position in the Rs. 9K range.

Thank you!

Venkatesh.
